

16 July 2019

To Whom It May Concern,

I have worked with Paolo for over ten (10) years while he served as the Corporate Information Officer performing the functions associated with information technology, cyber security, website management, marketing, sales and service. His performance was always exemplary. He is singularly responsible for transforming our web presence from that of the last century to one that is competitive in every way in today's demanding market. We are the envy of our competition and that is exclusively due to Paolo's efforts.

Paolo possesses that unique combination of intelligence, common sense, work ethic and leadership which has consistently stood him clearly over the rest in every regard. He is most articulate clearly expressing himself in oral, written and graphical form.

I recommend Paolo without reservation knowing that he is the best that I have ever observed or likely will ever observe. That is how certain I am of his capabilities.

George B. La Fever
President & CEO
Corelis, Inc.